I am concerned by the US-Australia alliance and feel that Australia has made immoral and damaging decisions (particularly regarding military action and the environment) due to the alliance. We are in a stable situation and do not need protection from the US, yet continue to be dragged into wars the US starts. I also feel that our lack of climate action and reluctance to pressure the US into similar action could be helped by an end to the alliance. I would like to see Australia moving in a more independent direction, without relying on the US and bowing to their pressures when it comes to international politics.
