The actions of the Morrison government in launching into contractual arrangements to buy/build nuclear powered submarines, while casually ditching the existing arrangements with Naval represents a travesty of the democratic process AND incompetence. Banging the drums of war by such overt actions, assembling submarine fleets, does not look like the actions of a peace-loving, democratic system. Arranging with big business to buy their "weapons of mass destruction" was done minus any consultation with the public, who are going to have to foot the bill and bear the consequences of hostilities which this weapons build-up may bring on Australia. Australia is becoming a pariah state.
